The Ionia

There's a place so dear to me

A little house by the sea

Its walls hold memories

Of my friends and family

And I long once more to be

In amongst their company

We'll laugh and we'll sing

As the moon climbs silently

Oh little house by the sea
Your walls hold history
From my childhood to my teens
And into eternity

And I long once to see you
On the banks of Slaughden Quay
Beckoning out to me
My little house by the sea
